To Whom It May Concern:

Please be advised I have known Dr. Gary M. Eisenberg, a child psychologist, through my practice, Barlow Pediatrics, since January 2000.

He was the principal child psychologist to whom I referred. He handled a wide range of cases from children with Learning Disabilities, Autism and ADHD all the way through children with behavior problems.

His Psychoeducational evaluations were succinct and to the point. I got frequent feedback from parents that his recommendations were helpful in making meaningful changes to their lives and to that of their children. Parents and schools were happy that the Psychoeducational evaluations fit their format to receive 504s, IEPs or other accommodations. I know he also advises the teacher with handling behavior problems.

I myself found him to get right to the point.

He has always had an excellent reputation within the community and holds the highest ethical standards.
